JBF Customs is widely known for giving sneakers a new a whole new look and his latest creation might be his best to date. Taking the popular adidas Yeezy Boost 750, JBF gives the sneaker an icy touch as he pays tribute to Atlanta rapper Gucci Mane with a special rendition of the 750 shoe.

On his latest creation, JBF Customs replaces the nubuck canvas of the 750 shoe and gives the sneaker a black essex oiled leather upper. On the interior of the kicks, the shoe customizer adds a luxurious vegetable tanned leather throughout the entire liner. Paying tribute to XXL's current cover artist, JBF includes an ice cream cone decoration with the words "Brrr" on the side panel of the shoes. Other new details include riri zippers and a carved leather stiffener.

Creating the sneakers for one of his clients, JBF Customs took to Instagram and his website to share the Gucci Mane-inspired shoes. While it's unknown as to how much the client paid for the customized kicks, one thing is for certain, JBF Customs flexed on this custom design. Check out more detailed pics of this custom 750 Yeezy below.
